What about the consent of the parents or guardians to this arrangt ? The keeping of registers imposes additional work on the schoolmasters suppose the pupils refuse to go to a Dispensary or prefer to be treated at home by a Vydian - I have some misgivings as to how the circular will work It appears to have been issued at the instance of the I G of Education

Office of the Inspector General of Education in Mysore, Bangalore,
Dated the ~~13th~~ 27th August 1909

Dear Mr Balasundaram Iyer,

No 1464 & 10 8 09

In reply to your D O regarding the Medical Inspection circular I am directed by the Inspector General to submit to Government the file of correspondence bearing on the subject, from which it will be seen that the scheme was gradually evolved in the course of consideration of the best means of remedying the deplorable state of the health of the School children in Shimoga and Chitaldrug reported upon by Dr Palpu the Sanitary Commissioner felt that as the parents were extremely indifferent, a course must be had to departmental supervision and requested this office to facilate the work of the Hospital Assistants to whom directions had already been given to examine the Schools at short intervals The chief part of the credit of initiating this policy belongs to the Sanitary Commissioner and his Deputy But the Education Department did as to welcome the idea to suggest the advisability of asking medical officers to report to Deputy Inspector's especially in cases where the teachers were grossly neglectful of the health of the children, to insist on the Schools themselves keeping a register in the form prescribed so that Inspecting Officers might be able to estimate their hygenic efficiency, and in general to bring about some coordination of the functions of the two departments with respect to this important matter I need hardly draw the attention of Government to the fact that medical inspections as well provided for in all modern School organisations and is indeed considered to be an indespensable aid to good School work
